Premier League API is an unofficial API client to get Premier League stats for players, fixtures and teams.

PLAYERS

Players are classes that contains basic information about a player. They contain a lot of stats.

Each player has an ID which is used to make the request. `search_player()` function will return a list of results of players.

1.1 Classes

There are two types of player responses, `SearchPlayer` and `Player`. `Player` has more stats available then a `SearchPlayer` but can only retrieved with a player ID where as search player takes a name and can return the ID.

All the example stats data is likely to change

1.1.1 Base Player

Base player is the class that both `Player` and `SearchPlayer` are based on. All the attributes below are available for both.

client = APIClient()
example_player = client.get_player(13286)

example_player.id

Position player plays. Can be G, D, M, F. (str)
assert example_player.position
"F"

Shirt number worn by player. (int)
assert example_player.shirtNumber == 18

More detailed position information. (str)
assert example_player.positionInfo
"Centre Striker"

client = APIClient()
example_player = client.get_player(13286)

Generate stats for the player. By default stats are not generated because it handles ↳ 100+ attributes.
example_player.generate_stats()

Name of the stat which is also the attribute name
example_player.accurate_back_zone_pass.name

example_player2 = client.get_player(13287, generate_stats=True)

1.1.3 SearchPlayer

GAMEWEEK

A gameweek is a list of `GameWeekFixture`s. A couple of difference between a `GameWeekFixture` and a `Fixture`:

- `GameWeekFixture` has a list of goals scored.
- `GameWeekFixture` does not have a list of `FixtureEvents`. Need to use the id to get the full fixture

It is possible to retrieve an entire week's or season's worth of fixtures by using the `get_fixtures` method.

URL SCHEMES

These are the URLs that are used to pull data

Any sort option can be asc or desc

5.1 List Players

https://footballapi.pulselive.com/football/players?pageSize=30&compSeasons={Season ID}&altIds=true&page=0&type=player&id=-1&compSeasonId={Season ID}
```

Returns a JSON list for players in the given season.

5.2 Player stats

https://footballapi.pulselive.com/football/stats/player/{player ID}?comps={competition ID}&compSeasons={Season ID}

If compSeasons is omitted then all seasons will be returned. Can also just do competition ID.

5.3 Competitions

https://footballapi.pulselive.com/football/competitions?page=0&pageSize=100&detail=2

Currently, at 77 competitions. If more are added then an increase in the pageSize will be needed

5.4 Competition Seasons

https://footballapi.pulselive.com/football/competitions/{competition ID}/compseasons?page=0&pageSize=100
```

Returns a JSON array of the seasons for a given competition.

```
{
  [
    {
      "label": "2020/21",
      "id": 363
    }
  ]
}
```

  ]
}
```

5.5 Teams

<https://footballapi.pulselive.com/football/teams?page=0&pageSize=100&altIds=true&compSeasons={Season ID}>

Returns a JSON array of team objects for a specific season

5.6 Fixture Information

https://footballapi.pulselive.com/football/fixtures/{fixture\_id}/textstream/{language}

Returns the fixture information for a game. When changing the language it seems to omit the fixture events

5.7 Gameweek

<https://footballapi.pulselive.com/football/fixtures?comps={competition ID}&compSeasons={Season ID}&teams={team IDs. Comma seperated}&page=1&pageSize=10&sort=asc&statuses=C>

There is no way to specifically get a game week. The best way I found was to set the pageSize to half the amount of teams in the league then set the page to the week you want.

5.8 Gameweeks

<https://footballapi.pulselive.com/football/compseasons/{Season ID}/gameweeks>

Gets a list of all the gameweeks for a season

This contains sample JSON responses that are parsed
